Training the Retarded Major Is Offered Now

By Barbara Hall

Two new majors are offered in the College of Education.

Teaching the mentally retarded and speech correction are presented as major teaching fields offered on both the undergraduate and graduate levels, Dean Frank Gorman said.

The object of teaching the mentally retarded is to train them to become as self-directing as possible. In some cases occupational levels can be reached with the proper training.

On the undergraduate level, courses such as teaching the exceptional child, teaching the trainable child, teaching the educable child, observation in teaching the mentally retarded, introduction to statistical and experimental methods, personality and adjustment, personality theory and abnormal psychology are offered. This requires 27 hours credit for completion.

Speech Correction

On the graduate level, this can be part of the Master's Degree program and requires 25 credit hours.

Dean Gorman said that this is "very definitely a field in demand."

The new program in speech correction, under the direction of Dr. Walter J. Beaupre, was instituted to meet the needs for speech therapists in this area.

Dr. Beaupre said there is "a crying need for people in this field."

This need is greater than for all other types of human handicaps combined. Close to 10 million Americans have a speech or hearing handicap.

It has also been estimated that five per cent of all school children have speech defects requiring attention.

Demand Grows

The current demand for adequately trained speech therapists and speech clinicians does not meet the need, and the demand grows greater every year, he said.

The program in speech correction also is offered on both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Any student with junior standing may start work in speech correction. Certification requires a valid Nebraska teaching certificate 30 credit hours in speech correction and a minimum of 200 o'clock hours of practice.

Clinics Available

A representative survey of courses for an undergraduate major in this field would include voice and phonetics, speech development and correction, speech pathology, neuropsychology of the speech handicapped, practice in speech correction, measurement of hearing, personality and adjustment and child psychology.

Special clinic facilities are functioning on campus and everyone in the community is eligible for service in the training clinic.

Everett Hosman Is Founder Of CAE; Inaugurated in 1931

"The busiest night spot in town" is the phrase commonly used in referring to the Omaha University College of Adult Education.

One of the men credited with founding the CAE is Everett Hosman, dean emeritus.

In 1931 Mr. Hosman and several leaders of Omaha civic groups delved into the problem of making OU more "service-education enrollment has been greater than day school enrollment.

What was offered?

"The most popular courses were English, psychology, business law and study of the Bible," he said.

"Reviewing dime paper-back novels" also drew strong interest, he said.

Over the years OU's "night classes" have continued to gain more students, more courses and more popularity.

In 1952 it became fully accredited as the College of Adult Education.

First Dean

And Everett Hosman was the CAE's first dean.

Mr. Hosman spearheaded the early development of what is now the bootstrap program when, in World War II, OU began short courses in mathematics for training pilots.

The development of military installations in the Omaha area gave the college the incentive to serve the armed forces, he said.

With Dean Hosman at the helm, OU's first summer sessions were held in 1938 when the Administration Building was opened.

After serving the University for nearly a quarter of a century, Dean Hosman retired from OU in 1953.

Today, at age 74, he is a long way from retirement.

He currently heads the world's largest non-denominational organization for the training of church ushers, a job that takes him from coast to coast.

Mr. Hosman will be one of the featured speakers via telephone at the Founders Day celebration Sunday.

Hosman ... first dean.

able" to the community. Their answer — a program geared toward adult education.

Mr. Hosman, now retired from the University faculty and living at 1112 North 36th Street, reflected back to the days that saw the beginning of what is now "the busiest night spot in town."

"It took nerve to start adult education courses during the Depression," he recalled.

First Courses

The first adult education courses were held as informal group meetings at the Fontenelle Hotel and the Redick Building at 24th and Pratt Street, the University's first "home."

Gottschalk to Begin World Affairs Series

The 17th Annual Institute of World Affairs will begin October 17 with a lecture by Dr. Louis Gottschalk on "France and De Gaulle after Four Years."

The series of six lectures by internationally known personalities will be held on Wednesday evenings at 8:15 p.m. in the University auditorium October 17 through November 21.

Students will be admitted on their activity cards and married students may bring their spouse with no additional charge.

The individual enrollment fee is $5.00 for other and this entitles the enrollee and a guest to attend each of the six lectures. Members of sponsoring guests and members of the Institute will be admitted by membership card.

Has Visited France

Louis Gottschalk, leading authority on Franco-American relations from the period of the 1770's to the present, has visited France almost every year since 1950. There he has lived, studied, lectured, and written. He has also visited Russia twice and traveled in Italy extensively leading him to secure expert knowledge of the history of other European states, especially Britain and Germany.

Among his accomplishments Dr. Gottschalk has been a Guggenheim, a Fulbright and a Behavioral Fellow. Augustana College and the University of Toulouse (France) have awarded him honorary doctorates. He received his A. B., M. A., and Ph.D. degrees from Cornell University.

Five Lectures Left

The remaining five lectures will feature Mr. Willard L. Bealac, "Communism and the U. S. in Latin America"; Mr. Leonard Tennyson, "The European Common Market"; Mr. William Hines, "What Ahead in Space"; His Excellency, Dr. W. C. Naude, "South Africa & the African Scene"; and Mr. Gene A. Gregory, "Vietnam—Last Ditch or Springboard?"

William Utley, head of the Department of Political Science, urges every student to attend because "students can't know too much about world affairs", and all the speakers are top notch in their fields.

The outcome of the election for class officers and freshman Student Council will be announced Wednesday afternoon after the polls close. Homecoming Princess will be announced at a Council Fire Friday night.

Omaha University invites citizens of Omaha, students and parents to the campus this Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5.

The event will be the celebration of the 54th Annual Founders' Day and Open House.

"Open House is held to give the citizens of Omaha the opportunity to see their University," Dr. Milo Bail, president of OU, emphasized.

All members of the faculty will be on hand to visit with the parents and students. A brochure will be distributed on Sunday telling where each member of the faculty will be located.

The music department will provide entertainment for the visitors. At 2:00 the University choir will sing in the auditorium of the Administration Building. An ensemble will play in the lecture hall of the Applied Arts Building at 2:30. The University marching band will perform on the women's athletic field at 3:00.

Refreshments will be served in the Student Center Lounge and the Epley Conference Center Lounge.

CAE Tenth Anniversary

Highlighting the afternoon's events will be the celebration of the Tenth Anniversary of the College of Adult Education.

A program in commemoration of this will be held in the Epley Conference Center Auditorium at 3:30. The topic of the program will be "The Challenge Ahead in Adult Education."

Featured speakers on the platform will be Dr. Bail; Ralph Kiplinger, president of the Omaha University board of regents; Bernard Gyger, director of vocational and adult education in Omaha Public Schools; Dean Vogel and George Pardee, both past presidents of the board of regents.

Special Guests

Special guests, speaking via telephone from their homes and offices across the nation, will include Everett Hosman, first dean of CAE, speaking from his home in Omaha; Donald Emery, former dean of CAE, speaking from his home in Shaker Heights, Ohio; Farrar Newberry, a member of the board of regents when CAE was established, speaking from his home in Arkadelphia, Arkansas.

General Griswold, Commandant of the War College in Washington, D. C., will speak from his home at Fort Leslie McNair, Washington D. C. While stationed at Offutt Air Force Base, General Griswold played an important role in the establishment of OU classes on the base.

Letters to the Editor . . .

It gives us a great deal of pride to know that we attend a college where the students are so mature they realize quality when they see it.

The enthusiasm shown by these "adults" was overwhelming at last Friday's pep rally.

The football players go onto the gridiron and put forth 100 per cent to bring recognition to the University of Omaha. The individual student goes to the "local pub" and tells everyone how great "his" football team is. After all, "Did you know that we are sixth in the nation?"

But this same student goes to a pep rally and keeps his mouth closed as he sits on his carcass. Those of us who are proud of this team try and show them the backing they deserve.

But when some nut sitting next to you makes you feel like the "nut", what do you do?

We guess yelling is considered adolescent behavior, unbecoming an adult.

But if it takes a "kid" to give support to a team, then we will bring every "baby" we know.

Another View on Parking

In the light of the front page story of last week's GATEWAY on parking meters, it is time to review and retrench the program.

Many large corporations—larger than Omaha University—are forced to admit their mistakes; especially in the face of rising costs of operation, through wages, maintenance and services.

Many alternatives may not serve as well as what we have but is the added service worth the extra cost involved?

We have a nucleus of unhappy students that have to walk "too far" from their parking places in the park.

Most of these people openly complain of the situation but offer no workable remedy—this is easy.

Of course, what good is it to offer a new, more economical plan if there is no acceptance?

To improve what we have we must survey what we have to work with. There are 1,447 parking stalls for students; 905 of these are metered. The 542 free stalls fill first and fast; followed by the park and metered area.

Many students interviewed recently indicated that they would prefer to pay from five dollars to fifteen dollars a semester for parking privileges. To make it easy on the university we could put every parking stall on a paying basis rather than just the metered stalls.

Based on a minimum of five dollars per semester, the lots would bring $12,500 a year not counting the summer sessions. Over a five year period the figure would soar to $72,500. This would pay for a lot of asphalt, paint, and snow removal and improve the financial picture by eliminating part of the policing, purchasing meters, coin collecting and counting, as well as a sizeable printing bill.

In short, it is time to cut costs where we can. It is not ridiculous to sell the meters to a municipality to perform their function, and applying the proceeds to the debt they helped to create. In 10 years we could be in the black instead of the present outlook.

Dear Hattie,

Dear Hattie,
This is our auf Wiedersehen of you.

We want you to know that you are as much a part of the journalism department as the typewriters. We'll miss you.

We want to say thank you, Hattie, for all the times you've played Cupid, and all the times you've listened to our problems.

Thank you for cleaning up our unbelievable messes after we finally met our deadlines, and thank you most of all for tolerating us.

We know it must be lonesome for you here now that your daughter is married. We wish we could adopt you into our GATEWAY family, but we know that sort of family doesn't replace your real one in Germany.

We're going to miss the little blue uniform running down the hall, dusting in hand. We're going to miss the humble woman who has listened to so many problems and offered such sound advice. Hattie, we have to tell you that we've known all the time that you can't always understand what we're saying. And Hattie, we didn't always understand your advice because we don't understand German very well. But it was a relief to have someone to talk to.

We hope you're not angry with us for sneaking this picture of you. We know you wouldn't think of letting us take it if you knew about it.

Oh, by the way, don't worry about the cake you brought for us Wednesday afternoon. Nobody found out about it, and we made sure we didn't leave any crumbs lying around.

We hope that our little going away present works. You know those travel clocks are handy. We shopped all over until we found a real small one.

Well, Hattie, this is good-bye. Please write to us from Germany and let us know how you're getting along. You can even write it in German—we'll get Mr. Moore to translate it.

Not $2.40 to Bowl; 40 Cents a Line Now

The price of bowling in the Student Center was changed this week from $2.40 per hour to 40 cents a line.

Game Room Manager Bob Haselton said the change was instituted Monday "because of a misunderstanding in the bowling price systems."

"Bowling has picked up some since the price change," he said.

No figures were available to show how many persons have been using the alleys, he said, but "12 to 20 a day is a good estimate."

The four lanes can handle approximately 220 students per day, figuring each bowls about one hour.

Periodic observation indicated the lanes were open more often than not.

Four physical education classes do use the alleys from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

"The students have not developed the habit of bowling," Haselton said, "but as soon as they discover we have good alleys, I am sure they will."

$2.40 High

"$2.40 did sound high," he said, and probably was a factor in the slack use of the $29,000 OU lanes.

Haselton did not view the price change as an increase, but the advantage now is placed with the slow bowler.

Under the "rental" system, four bowlers could get in two lines each in an hour. The cost to each would have been 30 cents. The incentive was to "beat the clock."

Under the new system, there is no price tag on the "time."

The price of shoe rental, 15 cents, was not changed.

Sheri: Got Those Old Bowling Alley Blues

By Sheri Hronek

As I approached the OUampi Room last week, I had no fear. For today was the day. The new annex was to be opened to relieve the congestion of that sacred Black Hole of O.U.

I planned to go sailing in, find a chair waiting for me and to breeze through the line. But alas and alack, such was not the case.

I was pushed here and there, beat four fellow students to a chair—and then got to sit on only half of it—and sent a pledge through the line—only to have her return an hour later.

After gulping down one anemic hamburger, an order of cold, limp french fries and one cold cup of coffee, I decided to investigate the matter.

Two New Doors

Heading in the direction of two new doors, I found—you guessed it—the bowling alley!! Rather, alleys—4 of them, you know. On these alleys were balls, pins and no people. This was my chance to get in a few lines before the rush on the alleys began.

I tip-toed to the information desk—so no one else would find out that the alleys were vacant—and asked if I could bowl. "Why, of course," was my answer. Then came the catch. It would only cost me $2.40 an hour.

$2.40 an hour! That's 24 cups of coffee. Or one carton of cigarettes and two cups of coffee. Or 52 hours of parking time. Wow!

I went back to the alleys to wait for the rush so that I could watch. It never came—but I'm still watching.

In the new annex I never get pushed. I can always find a chair. And I breeze past the machines as I get my lunch. There's only one thing bothering me—won't someone please come down here sometime? It gets kind of lonesome here by myself.

No Democrat Organizations On Campus

By Bill Crow

With less than a month to go before the November 6 election, and with an Omaha University professor on leave of absence campaigning for election to Congress, the campus Young Democrats are in a state of near-total disorganization.

Although tentative plans are in progress to organize and elect officers, no dates had been set to begin this process.

When Dr. Thomas Bonner, while a working professor here, entered the Congressional race during the primary, he rallied much student support for his cause. Now he is running on the Democrat ticket in opposition to incumbent Congressman Glenn Cunningham, an OU alum.

Political Science Department head William Utley entered this opinion as to the cause of the Young Democrat collapse:

Dr. Bonner kept his student supporters, and in a sense, took them with him. This makes them a Bonner group and puts them out working in his behalf, thus pulling away the nucleus of students who usually regenerate the official student group each semester.

Mr. Utley is faculty advisor for the Young Republicans.

The absence of such a group leaves no official sponsoring body to invite Dr. Bonner to speak on campus; an invitation which most persons involved feel Dr. Bonner would quickly accept.

Sponsor Notified

Adding to the slowness of the organization is the fact that the Young Democrat's Faculty Advisor, Earl J. Reeves, wasn't informed of his new duty until this week. He was added to the political science faculty this semester.

"I'm still trying to find out where or if there are any Young Democrats on the campus," he said. Mr. Reeves previously spent two years on the Kansas University political science staff.

"If—and when the ball gets rolling," Mr. Reeves explained, "the big event of our campaign will center around a Bonner rally."

Air Society Gets 13 New Members, End Pledge Week

Week-long pledge duties for the AFROTC Arnold Air Society that included everything from exercises at 5:30 a.m. to greeting activities from a braced position against the nearest wall, ended with the swearing in of 13 new members Sunday night.

The ceremony took place during an Arnold Air Society dining-in at the Offutt Air Base Officers Club.

To show their gratitude, the pledges made and presented swaggar sticks to the seniors of the Arnold Air Society.

New members sworn in by Commander Terry Bernth included: Fred Abbott, Robert Burdge, Paul Downie, Jim Houdek, Robert Iakisch, Gary Masilko, Richard Parrish, Gilbert Peterson, Teddy Samland, Bill Shunk, Art Simon, Ron Tohman and Vernon Wood.

The Biology Club will hold its first official meeting Thursday at 3:30 Room 344 the Administration Building.

Eddie Powers, president, invites anybody interested to attend.

Forces Join for Band Day

Nine high school bands, Omaha University's band, cheerleaders and the ROTC color guard are joining forces for Band Day activities tomorrow.

The group will participate in the parade through downtown Omaha, and a pre-game and half-time show at the stadium.

New uniforms are being shipped via air so OU's band may have them for the event. Some band members will also have new instruments, among them new white fiberglass sousaphones. They weigh half as much as the old one, fifteen pounds less for those carrying them in the parade.

The parade will begin at 9:30 a.m. from 17th and Chicago Streets. It will go to 16th Street and then proceed South on 16th to Farnam; then west to the Court House.

All of the bands will assemble at the Court House and play selections as one large, 750 member band.

Ralph Kiplinger, president of the board of regents, will welcome all of the band students.

At the half-time show the band will march into formations representing the songs they are playing. The formations include a "T" for the selection "Mr. Touchdown USA".

The bands participating are: Adair, Casey, Iowa; Central High and South High, both from Omaha; Thomas Jefferson, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Other bands are from: Boystown, Fremont, Millard, Pawnee City and Underwood, Iowa.

The directories will be distributed from 8 until 12 every day and you must have your activity card.

WHAT TO WEAR TILL THE DOCTOR COMES

Now that you have enrolled and paid your fees and bought your books and found your way around campus and learned to hate your roommate, it is time to turn to the most important aspect of college life. I refer, of course, to clothes.

What does Dame Fashion decree for the coming school year? (Incidentally, Dame Fashion is not, as many people believe, a fictitious character. She was a real Englishwoman who lived in Elizabethan times and, indeed, England is forever in her debt. During the invasion of the Spanish Armada, Dame Fashion—not yet a Dame but a mere, unlettered country lass named Moll Flanders—during the invasion, I say, of the Spanish Armada, this dauntless girl stood on the white cliffs of Dover and turned the tide of battle by rallying the drooping morale of the British fleet with this stirring poem of her own composition:

Don't be gutless,
Men of Britain.
Swing your cutlasses,
We ain't quittin'.
Smash the Spanish,
Sink their boats,
Make 'em vanish,
Like a horse makes oats.
For Good Queen Bess,
Dear sirs, you gotta
Make a mess
Of that Armada.
You won't fail!
Knock 'em flat!
Then we'll drink ale
And stuff like that.

As a reward for these inspirational verses Queen Elizabeth dubbed her a Dame, made her Poet Laureate, and gave her the Western Hemisphere except Duluth. But this was not the extent of Dame Fashion's service to Queen and country. In 1589 she invented the laying hen, and she was awarded a lifetime pass to Chavez Ravine. But she was not to end her days in glory. In 1591, alas, she was arrested for overtime jousting and imprisoned for thirty years in a butt of malmsey. This later became known as Guy Fawkes Day.)

But I digress. Let us get back to campus fashions. Certain to be the rage again this year is the cardigan (which, curiously enough, was named after Lord Cardigan, who commanded the English fleet against the Spanish Armada. The sweater is only one product of this remarkable Briton's imagination. He also invented the glottal stop, the gerund, and the eyelid, without which winking, as we know it today, would not be possible).

But I digress. The cardigan, I say, will be back, which is, I believe, cause for rejoicing. Why? Because the cardigan has nice big pockets in which to carry your Marlboro Cigarettes—and that, good friends, is ample reason for celebration as all of you will agree who have enjoyed Marlboro's fine, comfortable, mellow flavor and Marlboro's filter. So why don't you slip into your cardigan and hie yourself to your tobacconist for some good Marlboros? They come in soft pack or flip-top box. Cardigans come in pink for girls and blue for boys. © 1962 Max Shulman

Cardigans or pullovers—it's a matter of taste . . . And so is Marlboro a matter of taste—the best taste that can possibly be achieved by experienced growers and blenders—by science, diligence, and tender loving care. Try a pack.

Grafton to Host Ralston Students

Arlo Grafton, editor of the GATEWAY, will host a group of 17 high school journalists at Omaha University tomorrow. The students, from Ralston High School, are visiting OU as a result of speeches given at Ralston Tuesday, Oct. 2, by Arlo and Mary Beth Meyers, managing editor of the GATEWAY.

The journalists will be given a tour of the campus, including a first-hand look at the facilities of OU's journalism department.

Malanie Jeub, editor of the 1963 TOMAHAWK, will also describe for the students the work that is going into the TOMAHAWK.

To finish up the tour, the Ralston High group will be guests of the University at the OU-Ft. Hays State football game at 2 p.m. in the Stadium.

1961 Cutest Pan Visits UCS Agency; Karen Urges Big OU Kids to Give Big

The Christ Child Society along with 57 other agencies is supported by the United Community Services. The little girl in the story below spends most of her spare time at Christ Child. Here she finds recreational facilities that she would not have otherwise.

We have fun at Christ Child. We make lots of things that are very good and we have good teachers, too.

The other day when "Mildy" (I think that's her name) came to see us we made faces of things out of paper bags. You can really use those to clutter up your room and make it look nicer.

"Mildy" was nice. She is the tall one in the picture on top of this story I'm writing. I'm Karen and I'm sitting on one of the chairs looking into the camera.

You know Christ Child is lots of laughs to go after school. We have all sorts of things to do there. This month we're going to Lincoln to see Elephant Hall. Miss Flanigan says they have all kinds of funny dead animals there. I'm glad they're dead cause I'm really scared of live ones. I hope they don't smell though.

Milda Markus is admiring the art work of a typical arts and crafts class at the main Christ Child Center. Milda was last year's "Cutest Pan."

We get to go all kinds of places on a big school bus. My Mom says it's good that Miss Flanigan takes us places because we don't have a car and can't go places with our Mom and Dad.

"Mildy" says that you big kids at OU have some kind of contest to collect money for us. I think that's nice. She said it's called the "Cutest Pan—Ugliest Man" contest. I think that's a dopey name, but she said the big kids like it.

All of us kids heard that if everybody gives enough money we can have a new Christ Child Center. Just think of all the new things we could do then—swim in the winter, a big gym, all kinds of things.

We all are hoping that everybody gives a lot at OU. There are other places that get money, too. They get new buildings and things too.

I gave my whole week's allowance at school. It wasn't all wasted, though, cause I got a button to wear that has an angel on it. If you big kids give your allowance I bet they'd give you a button, too.

Zeta Tau Alpha Initiates Three

Zeta Tau Alpha will hold initiation ceremonies for three candidates Saturday, Oct. 13, at 8 a.m. The event will take place at the First Baptist Church, 421 Park Avenue.

Girls to be activated are: Susan Rester, Peggy Rummelhart and Beverly Theil.

The annual pledge caketalk party was hosted by Zeta pledges Sunday, Oct. 7 at 2 p.m. The party was held at the home of Mary Hallas, 1305 Ridgewood. Mary was in charge of arrangements and Patty Goldapp was invitation chairman.

At the meeting Wednesday, Oct. 10, Zeta Tau Alpha pledge class officers were announced. The officers are: Judy Cisar, president; Louise Micheletto, vice president; Judy Costka, secretary; Jeanie Thurber, treasurer; Patti Goldapp, social chairman, and Bobbi Merica, Junior Panhellenic Council representative. Marcia Ray is alternate Jr. Panhellenic representative.

Art Students Morris, Norton Give 'Personal Touch' to Clay

Sue Morris and Nancy Norton lend "that personal touch" to the gray globs of clay.

By Thomas Utts

In the Ceramics Art Class it is generally conceded that there are two ways to mix modeling clay. The first is the traditional (square) way, with a long handled pole. The second is the Nancy Norton-Sue Morris (swinging) way—with the feet. "The rest of the class is kind of chicken," Sue said. "We feel that we gain an identification with our clay."

"And besides that," said Nancy, "it's good therapy for tired art students."

"Students might be called Psycho-Ceramics," noted the Gateway reporter, "the cracked pots of the art class."

"But there is something even more important," added Sue. "You know how when you were a child you liked to really get into things, like mud and paint, and stuff?"

"So actually, it takes us back to our happy childhood days," said Nancy. "That's definitely the most important thing. The fact that this is the easiest way to mix the clay doesn't really count."

Oozing Through Toes?

"This class meets at 8:30 in the morning on Monday, Wednesday and Friday," noted the Gateway reporter. "Just how does cool, clammy clay feel oozing through one's toes that early in the morning?"

"It's great," they chirped.

"It provides kind of a little pick-me-up, and makes our whole day."

The two girls also said that quality of their clay is far superior to that of the other students who mix it the square way. To prove it, Sue held up a large shapeless gray blob of clay mixed with her feet, and Nancy held up a large, shapeless, gray blob of clay mixed with a pole.

President Milo Bail spoke to the pledge class of Tau Kappa Epsilon Tuesday night, Oct. 9.

Dr. Bail made a speech on the importance of academic achievement. He stressed that one must have the desire and will to become a successful college student.

John Knickman, present president of TKE, Dennis Madigan and Ivan Christensen, faculty sponsor, had dinner with Dr. Bail before the meeting.

S.E.A. Plans Election of 2 New Officers

The National Student Education Association, better known at Omaha University as the S.E.A., began in the 1950's as a part of the National Education Association.

Before the group got national affiliation known as the S.E.A., they were called the Future Teachers.

Last year the group had a membership of 218. Membership is open to those in the College of Education and those considering education as a career.

The advantages of the S.E.A. to future educators are many.

The students get to know the education faculty and other education majors; there are speakers at the meetings which tell the students about the profession; the group visits state conferences on education, and you must have been in S.E.A. to be in Kappa Delta Pi, the education honorary.

Dues are $3 a year. Dues include the National Education Association magazine.

The group's sponsor is Dr. Joseph Dunn. This year's officers are: president, Karen Stacke; treasurer, Judy Rinschen; historian, Linda Anderson, and publicity, Mary Beth Moulton.

The offices of vice president and secretary are going to be filled Tuesday by an election in the Student Organization room of the Student Center. Anyone having paid his dues for the current year may vote.

The dues for the S.E.A. may be paid anytime during October in Dean German's office.

The flowers will be distributed Friday, October 19th, in the Student Center. Students must present their order tickets at that time.

Newman Members Meet for Sun. Mass

Members of the Newman Club, organization for Catholic students on campus, will meet at St. Margaret Mary's Church for 11 a.m. mass on Sunday, Oct. 14. There will be no meeting that evening.

This year's UCS drive is twice as big as last years; therefore twice as much work is needed to reach the goal.

Rookie Fullback Air Force Vet, Rock and Roll Singer

By Ken McEwen

Gerald Allen has more than one talent. Gerald Allen sings; Gerald Allen plays football. Gerald Allen sings "Rock and Roll." Gerald Allen plays "country football."

Most important, Gerald Allen plays football for Omaha University.

From Masion, Ohio, Allen is a 24 year old freshman gridder who has been a pleasant surprise to OU fans and coaches alike. Although deceptive enough in the open field, he is the type of player who runs hard, and through many of his opponents.

He is a fullback who has carried 19 times and has made a total of 77 yards net. Number 44 has two kickoff returns for 45 yards and one punt return of 13 yards in the four games in which he has appeared.

The 6'2", 195 pound engineering major played his high school football at Washington high in Masion where the competition is, according to Gerald, "very tough." His team took state titles during his Sophomore and Junior years. Gerald was elected to the All-County team at Washington. He also competed in track there.

Jerry, as he is known by many Omahans, also has been dubbed "Tut." Jerry says that this was his father's nickname and that it carried over to him. "Tut" senior was a guard on the Chicago Bears professional football team.

Stationed at Offutt

From high school, Jerry served his obligation to the government in the Air Force. He was stationed at Lackland AFB in Texas and then was transferred to Omaha's Offutt AFB for two years where he was a Communications Specialist.

While he was at Offutt he met his wife Donetta. Tut met her at a talent show. He was singing with a quintet from Offutt that was later to place third in a world-wide SAC talent show held in Washington, D.C. The couple was married September 15, 1961 and live at 2566 Evans with their three month-old son Jerry. Donetta attended the University of Nebraska.

Gerald sang with a quintet in Ohio also. His group, the "Golden Teardrops" recorded such records as "No Parking," "Devil Rock" and "Dancing Angel." His desire to sing has not been given up yet however. He and Art Reynolds and Melvin Morson of OU and two other singers are building another group at this time. Allen is an ardent fan of singer Johnny Mathis.

Fast Friendships

Tut says that he was amazed at how fast he became acquainted with his OU teammates. He said that it was really impressive "the way the coaches give you a chance and how much they help you." Jerry says that of all the small college teams that he has observed in the East and around the country, OU has the greatest line he has seen. Gerald had a surprise in store for him also, when he came to OU and found out that the small college ball was a lot tougher than he had expected.

Gerald Allen plays the piano. Gerald Allen works at the Ritz theatre. Gerald Allen sings songs. Gerald Allen has a wife and a son. Gerald Allen plays OU football. Gerald Allen goes to school. Gerald Allen is a very busy fellow.

Victory Bubble Bursts; Oh Well, Tomorrow Is Another Game; Fort Hayes and Band Day

Omaha U's football freight train was derailed last Saturday, but coach Al Caniglia says, "We're playing a nine-game schedule, not a one game schedule. Of course, we're all disappointed, but one game doesn't make a season."

In reviewing the game, Caniglia said that, contrary to popular belief, it was our offense that hurt us, not the defense. He said that "before the game we thought if we could hold them to 13-points, we would have won the ball game." He said that it was our inability to move the ball in crucial situations and to put the big drive together. He added that "the defense was real good for three-and-a-half quarters, but then we got too conservative."

Caniglia finally said that the Northern Illinois game is behind us, and all we can do is shoot for the rest of them.

Fort Hayes tomorrow

That means beginning with tomorrow's game with Fort Hayes in the conference opener.

Game time is 2 p.m. for the Annual Omaha Band Day battle.

The visiting Tigers also lost their first game last week. They lost to Kearney, 27-13, after winning the first two from NW Missouri, 20-0, and Colorado College, 33-0.

The Hays outfit is led by another offense-minded quarterback, Dave Parker. He has scored six touchdowns himself, averaged 100-yards per game rushing and 47-yards per game passing.

Tiger hopes are described as the "brightest in years," mainly because of 21 returning lettermen.

Northern Rehash

Omaha U footballers saw their hopes for an undefeated season go down the drain last Saturday as underdog Northern Illinois rode George Bork's passing arm to a 13-7 victory over the Indians.

Bork, a 170 pound senior, set an N.A.I.A. record for pass completions as he found the mark 36 out of 46 times.

This was the second straight week that the OU pass defense had been riddled badly. Against Bradley, though, the Indians scored almost at will and got away with a 47-26 win.

Defense Shines

The Indian defensive line put on a great demonstration throughout the day and held Northern to a minus 7 yards rushing.

Omaha had managed a 7-0 lead going into the last quarter thanks to a Meyers-to-Kettle td pass before the half.

With Northern Illinois down 7-0 in the last period, the Huskies stormed to a score but missed the point, and the Indians had a 7-6 lead with a little over five minutes to go.

Jim Kettle dropped a sure td pass from Lee Milner and the Omahans punted on a fourth and 3 count. So with only three minutes to go, the Huskies stormed back to score and take the lead by 13-7.

The Indians staged one more try but two long bombs by Meyers and a run by Roger Sayers which resulted in another injury on the last play of the game went for no gain and the Omaha streak was over.

Omaha's leading rusher, Louie Miloni was stopped with only 25 yards rushing and Lee Milner once again carried the offensive load.

Omaha had been ranked number six in the N.A.I.A. poll and Northern Illinois number sixteen.

Physical Fitness Is Gorr's Topic

"I don't believe in pursuing physical fitness in school and then forget about it after graduation," said Coach Ernie Gorr, commenting on the talks he has given on the subject.

Mr. Gorr, whose topic is the Challenge of Fitness, has spoken at the Nebraska Public Health Association and numerous P-TA groups around the city. He is scheduled to speak next week at Beatrice, Nebr.

"The program is geared to adults as well as to the young," he added.

The talks are about activities, attitudes and other essentials necessary to maintain a program. He added that all that is necessary is that a person maintain a program that involves physical activity other than that exercised in everyday life.

Much information given is geared around posture, circulation and respiration.

M&M's Form Hockey Teams

The Majors and Minors Club will be practicing field hockey in the coming weeks. Other students interested in forming a team are asked to attend practices.

The team representing OU will play its first game against the University of Nebraska physical education club at Lincoln.

Cardie's Looking For Distance Men

Omaha University's cross country team continued to work out this week despite the fact that more runners are needed. Five runners are used in the dual meets. Seven runners are needed to offset the possibility of illness or injury causing canceling of a meet.

Runners working out include Gene Somer, Ray Hultman, Herb Roades, James VanLiew and Joe Griffiths. Cross country practice is held weekday afternoons between 3:00 and 5:00.

Coach Lloyd Cardwell said that the team is working hard but they need more runners. Meets can be scheduled if the team develops.

Archery starts Oct. 12 at 3:15 on the Football Field. First notice to turn in the name of your basketball team for the 1962-63 season.

Basketball Already? You Bet; Cagers Start Practice Monday

Basketball practice starts Monday and Omaha U's players, with Coach Jim Borsheim in his second year at the helm, seem to feel that the 1962-63 season should present a reversal of last years 5-14 won-lost record.

Five lettermen are back from last years squad. Center Larry Villnow, guards Paul Kaster and Joe Neuberger and forwards Bruce Hunter and Bernie Miller head the line of basketball hopefuls that will turn out for the first practice at 3:30 Monday.

Villnow is a 6'7" sophomore from Benson High School, who should, according to Coach Borsheim, provide a "steady influence in the slot position." Kaster is a transfer student from Creighton University who came in at mid-term last year and in eight games provided a 23.5 scoring average from his back-court position.

Good Freshmen

Good freshman prospects and a transfer student from the University of Nebraska are other good reasons for the basketball optimism.

Bob Gibbs, a 6'6" star at Cathedral last year; Charlie Myers, who was an All-State guard in New Jersey; and Louis Murrillo, a standout from Washington High School, East Chicago, Indiana, are all freshman hopefuls. Gibbs is a forward while Murrillo can play either forward or guard.

Jon Lloyd, a 6'3" transfer student from Nebraska, was an outstanding member of a good freshman squad last year and, according to Coach Borsheim, "should provide a lot of strength on the boards—he's got springs for legs and can do the defensive work of someone three or four inches taller."

Open tryouts Monday will be held at 5 p.m. Bring your own equipment if you're interested. The 3:30 workout is limited to those who have already reported to Coach Borsheim.

Pall Mall Presents~ GIRL WATCHER'S GUIDE

BATON-TWIRLING
HIGH-STEPPER

CAMPUS TYPE I

The High-Stepper is an ideal choice for Campus Type #1 for two reasons. First, she is a fairly common species—and second, she is easy to identify.

Just as the bird-watching beginner should concentrate on the Robin, Sparrow and Cardinal before moving on to more exotic species, the girl watching beginner should master the observation and identification of types such as the High-Stepper before progressing to rarer (and usually more difficult to identify) types.

As in all fine arts, the mastery of fundamentals is the key to girl watching success. This mastery of fundamentals is just as important in the art of cigarette making. Taste Pall Mall and see what we mean!
